NO CONQUEST BOLSHEVISTS PROMISE FOR CHINA UNION

Full Text Of Note Seeking Peace Is Obtained

BARS SECRECY

Existing Treaties To Be Abrogated Under Proposal

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, April 1.—The following full text of the note recently sent to the Chinese Government from Irkutsk by the Russian Soviet Government shows that the note is of greater importance than appeared from the somewhat disjointed excerpts that have already been published in the press.

"To the Minister of Foreign Affairs, Peking:

"To the Chinese people and the Western and Central Governments of China. On this day, when the troops of the Soviets, after having defeated the army of the counter-revolutionary despot Kolchak, maintained by bayonets and foreign gold, have entered Siberia and are marching in accord with the revolutionary people of Siberia, the Council of the Commissaries of the People address the following fraternal words to the people of China:

OFFER HELP TO PEOPLE OF CHINA

"Soviet Russia and her Red Army, after two years' fighting, after incredible efforts, does not march eastwards across the Ural mountains for reprisals or in a spirit of conquest. Every peasant and workman in Siberia knows this to be true. We bring to the people liberation from the yoke of militarism, from foreign gold which smothers in enslavement the people of the Orient among whom the Chinese people occupy a prominent place.

"We not only bring help to our working classes but also the Chinese people, and call to their minds once again what we have never ceased to tell them since the big revolution of October, 1917, what has perhaps been hidden from them by Americans, Europeans and Japanese. Ever since the working men and peasants' government took into its hands power in October, 1917, it has sent out in the name of the Russian people to all the peoples of the world their proposition to establish a durable peace.

"This peace should be founded upon the reciprocal renouncement of the acquiring of territory, of every contribution from every people whether large or small, wherever they may be against all other nations, that each nation should be free in its internal life, and that no power should hold back by force workmen or peasants.

SECRET TREATIES WOULD BE BROKEN

"This peace further declares annulled all secret treaties with Japan, China, and the ex-Allies, treaties which were to serve the Government of the Tsar and his allies in overcoming and purchasing the peoples, and particularly the Chinese, in the sole interests of capitalists, monied proprietors, and Russian generals.

"The Soviet Government has offered to the Chinese Government a chance to commence conferences on the subject of the annulment of the treaty of 1896, the Protocol of Peking of 1901, and the agreement with Japan in 1906-07, that is to say, to render back to the Chinese people all that which was taken away by the Government of the Tsar, comprising all authority given to Japan and the Allies. These conferences lasted till March, 1918. But the Allies took the Government of Peking roughly by the throat, bribed heavily the mandarins and the Chinese press, and forced the Chinese Government to refuse to enter into relations with the workingmen's and peasants' government of Russia.

MANCHURIAN INVASION CALLED BRIGANDAGE

"Instead of restoring to the Chinese people the railway in Manchuria, Japan and her allies took hold of it themselves, invaded Siberia, and forced Chinese troops to help in this brigandage, while the people, the Chinese working men and peasants, never knew the truth nor the reasons for the invasion of Manchuria and Siberia by European, American and Japanese troops.

"We send this message today to the Chinese people with the object of opening their eyes. The Soviet Government renounces every conquest made by the Tsar's Government in China and Manchuria or any other region. Their populations shall decide themselves to what country they wish to belong and also what form of government they wish to adopt.

"The Soviet Government restores to the Chinese people without any compensation the Chinese Eastern Railway, the mining and forestry concessions, and other privileges which had been seized by the Tsar's government, the

China To Be World Power In Raw Silk Industry, Is Prediction Of Americans

Members Of Mission Declare Only Requisities For Great Export Trade Are Adaptation Of Methods And Products To Needs Of Foreigners

China is confronted with an opportunity to become a world power in the raw silk industry, according to members of the American Silk Mission which arrived in Shanghai Sunday. The Mission comes to make a careful survey of the raw silk situation and urge the government to aid the International Commission for the Improvement of Silk Culture in extending its work which has already proved highly successful on the small scale permitted by the funds supplied for its operations by the Chinese Customs. The Commission's headquarters are in Shanghai.

Improvement of sericulture, better reeling facilities and methods and the production of cleaner silk adapted to high-speed American machines are the requisties of an enormous growth of the industry, according to the silk experts. They assert that the present production of raw silk could be increased five times with ease by proper sericulture without the addition of a single mow of land for mulberry culture. Similarly exports to America and Europe would rise by leaps and bounds if attention were devoted to the type of silk needed by foreign manufacturers.

PRECEDENTS ARE CITED

In connection with the possibilities of increase in production and exports through proper sericulture and scientific reeling, the case of Japan is cited. Twenty years ago, according to Mr. Daniel E. Douty, general manager of the United States Conditioning and Testing Company and secretary of the Mission, Japan exported to the United States raw silk worth $20,000,000. Last year the exports amounted to $400,000,000. Another striking instance showing that the same results, or better, can be obtained in China is the history of exports from Kwangtung Province in the last three years. In 1917 the Kwangtung silk men began to reel the new style, the American standard skein, and while at that time their annual exports to America were 20,000 bales this year the total will be 40,000 bales.

DEMAND IS TREMENDOUS

"Importance of immediate development and improvement of the raw silk industry in China may be seen in the fact that while the demand for silk manufactures has been increasing at a rapid pace, particularly in the last few years, since the war began the available raw silk has been decreasing," said Mr. Douty.

"France and Italy formerly produced raw silk but the war checked the supply. The industry is dead in France and is less than 60 percent of normal in Italy. In France production would have been ended in 10 years even though there had been no war, according to predictions made to me in Lyons early in 1914. This was because of the difficulty of obtaining women workers to do the reeling. The women prefer work in cotton or other types of mills rather than in silk filatures. A somewhat similar situation prevails in Italy.

"It is safe to say that there will be no further raw silk industry in France and that

Lamont Tells Of U.S. Effort To Aid War Stricken World

American Banker And Mr. Sung Han-chang Speak To 175 At University Club Tiffin

Answering the question as to whether United States is really doing her duty to help restore equilibrium throughout the world, Mr. Thomas Lamont yesterday told of America's financial aid to her Allies and of the effort made in America to meet after-war needs in Europe. The American banker, who is here working in the interest of the New Consortium, was the guest and principal speaker at a tiffin given at the Carlton by the American University Club and the Chinese Bankers Association of Shanghai.

Mr. Sung Han-chang, president of the Chinese bankers Association, was the only other speaker and in his address urged that business men be invited to participate in new loans to China. He contrasted results of loans made by the Old Consortium with the ideals expressed by those behind the New Consortium. "We as merchants do not favor loans to be used for purposes other than for the development of industries which will be beneficial to the Chinese public and not to the individual few," he said.

Mr. Tong Shao-yi presided at the tiffin which was attended by 175 persons. It was the largest tiffin even held by the American University Club.

Mr. Lamont's address follows in full:

"In behalf of my colleagues and myself I want to thank the Shanghai Banker's Association and the University Club for this cordial greeting. There is so much in common between these two organisations that I am glad they have joined in this welcome. The leading Chinese bankers in Shanghai are men who have enjoyed the higher education, many of them educated in America and England, as well as in China, and many of them members of the University Club.

"The problems that are pressing upon all of you, both as men of education and men of affairs, are very great. The economic equilibrium of the world has been shaken as a result of the war and if we are to restore that equilibrium we must all work together. I am not one of those who think that the world has gone to rack and ruin. There are some financiers of eminence who go so far almost as to say that Europe is bankrupt. Such is not the case. All the countries engaged in the war have suffered grievously. They have been spent with a consuming fever, and the convalescence at times seems hopelessly slow, but if in Europe we compare this time with a year ago we shall see that decent progress has been made, at any rate in the Allied

Y.M.C.A. Delegates Are Guests Of Ex-President

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tientsin, April 4.—The delegates to the Y.M.C.A. Convention yesterday afternoon were entertained by ex-President Li Yuan-hung at his residence.

In the evening an international session was held at which greetings were read from President Hsu Shih-chang, Premier Chin Yun-peng and from the Japanese and other associations.

The Premier wrote that the convention showed the essential unity of China, and that the divisions were only governmental.

Mr. Saito representing the Japanese Y.M.C.A. speaking on Sino-Japanese relations said: "We share your concern and anxiety over the present situation." He appealed for confidence in order that "like-minded men" in the two countries might work together. Messages were also read from the British and American Charges d'Affaires.

(Special Correspondence To THE CHINA PRESS)

Tientsin, April 2.—The first day of the big Y.M.C.A. Convention is over. Ex-President Li Yuan-hung came in person and gave an unrestrained speech. At the evening meeting Fletcher S. Brockman made an address which showed that while his present residence is in New York City, his heart is still in China. One thousand and eight delegates are already registered and more are due to come. Local hosts and friends of the Association fill the few remaining crevices in the large Wesley Church where the main sessions of the Convention are held. The long looked for post-war convention of the Y.M.C.A. surely started off with a bang.

The Tientsin Association had taken the precaution to send to Pukow two experienced business secretaries who were kept busy all the way up explaining plans and giving instructions as to what we were to do on arriving at Tientsin. We were glad to listen to them.

It was reassuring after some newspaper reports that our movements were to be under our own control and not under orders from the Tientsin police. We had heard and read all sorts of wild rumors that Yang I-teh would do this,

Rich Slacker Gets Five Years Hard Labor And Loses His Vote

(Reuter's Service)

New York, March 31.—Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, son of the late millionaire brewer of Philadelphia, has been sentenced to five years imprisonment with hard labor and loss of citizenship for desertion and failure to report for military service after having been called up in 1918.

Bergdoll eluded the draft officers during the war by dashing about the country in high-powered motor cars. He was also said to have been given haven by wealthy friends and depended on the riches of himself and family to evade punishment.

G. O. P. SENATE LEADERS ADOPT PEACE MEASURE

Upper House Of Congress To Pass On Proposed Bill Thursday

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, April 2.—The Republican leaders have passed a resolution declaring the state of war between the United States and Germany at an end.

The resolution which it is anticipated will soon become effective, repeals the President's war powers and provides for reciprocal trading with Germany.

Germany is allowed 45 days within which to notify the President that she has declared the war at an end and waived all claims against the United States that she could not assert if the United States had ratified the Treaty.

The democrats are opposed to the resolution on the grounds that the war can be terminated solely by the executive. They point out that the President will certainly veto the resolution. The Republicans are confident that they will be able to pass over the President's veto.

Washington, April 2 (later).—The Republicans have agreed to defer the consideration of the peace resolution until Thursday.

Washington, April 3.—The resolution of the Republican leaders declaring the state of war between the United States and Germany at an end, has been reported by the House of Representatives Foreign Affairs Committe by a strictly party vote of 12 to six.

Chinese Arrested For Murder Of Girl

Bubbling Well Detectives Get Suspect After Search Of 24 Hours

After a search of 24 hours that covered the International Settlement, the French Concession and finally penetrated Chinese territory, detectives attached to the Bubbling Well Station last night arrested a Chinese who will be charged at the Mixed Court today with murdering a Chinese girl at 561 Medhurst Road.

Shortly before 8 o'clock Sunday night the girl's body was found in a bed at the house on Medhurst Road. She had probably been dead two or three days, her face was covered with lime, a deep gash was found in the throat and the hands were badly cut.

A thorough search of the house resulted in the discovery of a chopper and a clasp knife with a blade over three inches in width. The weapons had been hidden.

Sub-inspector MacKenzie, who is in charge of the Station, and Detective Sub-inspector Thomas Dunn went on the case, located the wife of the man suspected of the crime and after working nearly 20 hours made the arrest last evening. The arrested man was about to leave Shanghai, the police believe.

After the murder charge is made this morning an inquest will be held at the mortuary.

WILSON HOLDS COMMAND OF AMERICANS IN RUHR REGION

President Answers Query, Defines Position Of Forces There

STRIFE CHECKED

Strike Postponed And Red Army Reported To Be Dispersing

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, April 2.—President Wilson, in a letter to Congress in reply to a resolution of inquiry in the House of Representatives on the position of the American troops in the occupied territory, said that the American troops on the Rhine were subject only to the orders of the President of the United States as their Commander-in-Chief.

The President added that the territory they controlled was still governed under the terms of the armistice but he disclosed the fact that the American Government disapproved of the proposals to have the troops in the territory placed under the Rhineland High Commission.

Marshal Foch, he said, had no authority over the American troops but Major-General Allen who was in command had full authority to utilise the troops to police the occupied district, for the preservation of order and to repel any attack made on him.

Berlin, March 31.—It is reported that the Red army in the Ruhr district is gradually dispersing. The towns in Westphalia have sent representatives to Muenster to confer with the commander of the Government troops.

The Socialists have therefore decided to postpone a general strike pending the result of the negotiations.

The Independent Westphalian leader, Herr Ermst, in a notable article in Vorwaerts denounces the Spartacists as anarchists and declares that the establishment of Soviets in Germany is impossible.

MILLERAND ADOPTS MILDER ATTITUDE

Paris, March 31.—M. Millerand's new note to Germany greatly modifies the previous uncompromising attitude of France with respect to the proposed despatch of German regular troops to the Ruhr district. M. Millerand now virtually promises to consent directly circumstances become more grave.

Meanwhile it is understood that although a general strike began at Elberfeld and Essen this morning, the situation in the Ruhr district later became less threatening owing to the German Government staying the advance of troops and thus providing an opportunity for negotiations.

Paris, March 30.—M. Millerand today sent a letter to the German Charge d'Affaires pointing out that the penetration of German troops into the Ruhr basin was only justifiable by imperious necessity, but the Allied Control Commission were emphatically of opinion that intervention in this district would be at present useless and dangerous and therefore it was impossible to grant the request of the German Government.

FIGHTING REPORTED NORTH OF ESSEN

Berlin, March 31.—There was fighting yesterday evening between the Reds and Government troops near Dinslaken (14 miles N.W. of Essen). The Reds were continually reinforced.

London, March 30.—Though despatches from Berlin continue to assert that the Communists in the Ruhr district are weakening, owing to shortage of food and lack of funds to pay the workers or the Red troops, it is admitted in a telegram from Reuter's Berlin correspondent today that the Socialists at Elberfeld besides rejecting the Government's ultimatum, have threatened a general strike in conjunction with the Communists in the whole Ruhr region if the Government troops advance.

COMMUNISTS START REIGN OF TERROR

They have also refused to disarm the population or to release prisoners. Anarchy prevails at Duisburg where the Burgomaster and Town Treasurer have been imprisoned by the Communists who occupied the Town Hall and seized a million marks from the State Bank. The municipal officials at Duisburg have struck as a protest against their imprisonment.

Berlin, March 30.—The Lokal-Anzeiger announces that the Plauen Red Executive has issued a proclamation stating that, if the general strike is insufficient to prevent the entry of Government troops into the district, machinery in the factories, the houses of the propertied classes and public buildings will be destroyed in return.

Danes Strike Against King

Workers Walk Out In Protest Over Zahle Dismissal

Trouble Spreads In America

Monarch Receives Men In Conference Looking To Settlement

(Reuter's Service)

Copenhagen, April 1.—The strike has begun. Those on strike are principally sea-farers, skilled tradesmen and bakers. Some compositors have come out today. The Communal and State services and also the waiters will suspend work at midnight on April 5.

The railwaymen have decided not to run trains carrying troops, some of whom have been drafted from Helsingfors and Vordingborg.

M. Zahle the ex-Premier and his colleagues have declined the invitation to attend the traditional farewell audience at the Palace.

The King, attended by the new Premier, M. Liebe, today received a deputation from the Trades-unions Federation, headed by the ex-Minister, M. Stauning. M. Liebe states that the State Council had decided to dissolve Parliament on April 22 and to issue election writs on April 23.

The deputation submitted political and other demands as a condition of the calling off of the strike. M. Liebe promised that he would give them his consideration.

WORKINGMEN RESENT DISMISSAL OF ZAHLE

Copenhagen, March 31.—With the Trade Union Congress' declaration of a general strike which will begin on April 6, Denmark is confronted with the unusual situation of a popular strike against the King for which the sole reason is the King's alleged unconstitutional action in dismissing the Zahle Ministry.

Copenhagen, March 31.—The Trade Union Congress has declared a general strike throughout Denmark.

The Socialists repudiate M. Liebe's non-party Ministry which has announced the intention of holding an immediate election, and they demand a republic.

A curious fact is that the Syndicalists oppose the strike on the ground of their hatred of "all political frauds," while the Conservatives support the King for "his patriotic action" in dismissing

New York Harbor Traffic Is Paralysed By Unions There

(Reuter's Service)

New York, April 2.—The affiliated unions of marine workers have given orders for a general strike to be effective on all railroad boats except ferries from eight o'clock tonight.

Eight thousand men are involved and a strike would hold up 40 percent of harbor traffic. The cause of the strike is the question of hours of work.

New York, April 1.—The Association of Masters, Mates and Pilots, numbering 28,000 members, has voted a strike for the purpose of enforcing an eight-hour day. This strike will entirely tie up harbor traffic here.

FIREMEN REBEL

Chicago, April 2.—Five hundred firemen here have voted in favor of a strike to commence on April 7 unless their wages are increased by 25 dollars a month. The Municipal budget provides for an increase of 10 percent and the strikers have been notified that they must either accept these terms or leave the city's service.

NEGOTIATIONS STOPPED

Washington, April 2.—The negotiations between the railroad employers and employes have been broken off owing to the refusal of the employers to proceed unless the public was represented in the negotiations. The controversy will be referred to the Board provided by the railroad bill on which the public is represented.

RETURN TO WORK

Chicago, April 2.—The stockyard workers who have been on strike will return to work tomorrow.

Chinese Eastern Again Threatened By Employes Strike

Vladivostok, April 3.—The employes on the Chinese Eastern railway are again threatening to strike in view of their dissatisfaction with the new Chinese president of the railway whose actions, they declare, are "lowering the prestige of Russia."

IRISH REAL LOSERS IN RIOTS, VIEW OF PREMIER

Protect Innocent But Use Strong Methods, He Advises

RUTHLESS PLOT

Minister Alleges An Organised Attempt To Terrorise

OFFICIALS SEIZED

Mob Handcuffs Galway Sheriff After Raid On His Home

(Reuter's Service)

London, April 2.—The Prime Minister has sent a letter to the Lord Mayor of Dublin, sympathising in the dilemma in which he is placed, and pointing out that "Ireland today is menaced by a formidable organisation which is seeking to terrorise public officials and the Irish people by murders and assassinations. The letter declares:

"The campaign has attained such proportions that it is impossible to obtain evidence in the ordinary way which might lead to arrests or convictions and that, therefore, the Executive which is responsible for the maintenance of government and the protection of the life, liberty and property of individual citizens, is placed in great difficulties, as certainly it is not Irish to arrest the guiltless but on the other hand their first imperative duty to leave no stone unturned to enable them to lay their hands upon those terrorising Society. They may at times have no option, if they are to grapple with the problem of organised murder, but to dislocate in some degree the normal life of the community.

PLOT TO PREVENT COMPROMISE CHARGED

"May I add that I believe that the present campaign is largely prompted by the desire to make impossible a settlement of the Irish question by reason or goodwill.

"The Home Rule Bill, which is now before Parliament, proposes to establish self-government throughout Ireland on lines more generous than the Act of 1914. It provides means whereby Ireland can attain unity by the free act of her own citizens without further reference to the Imperial Parliament. I do not believe it possible for Ireland to obtain unity and peace except by these methods of reason and conciliation.

"The policy of Sinn Fein is exactly the opposite. It depends upon violence in opinion and violence in action. It is a policy which can never lead to the union of Ireland. It can certainly never achieve its avowed object of an Irish Republic.

GOVERNMENT NOT TO BE DEFLECTED

"It can only condemn Ireland to a long continuance of the terrorism and distress dominating it today, for the Government will not be deflected from what it believes to be the only course consistent with reason and commonsense by the most ruthless campaign of assassination and crime that Ireland has ever seen.

"The Government is however anxious to make as easy as possible the task of those who are endeavoring to carry on the administration of the country on reasonable lines and, if there are any means by which moderate men can be helped and encouraged to withstand and oppose the present campaign of intimidation and so bring nearer a settlement of the Irish question, I will gladly co-operate in bringing them into effect."

GALWAY SHERIFF IS HANDCUFFED BY MOB

London, April 1.—A hundred men raided the residence of Mr. Alcorn, the High Sheriff of Galway, yesterday. The Sheriff was handcuffed and dragged to a pond but was released when he agreed to hand over certain land.

CHIEF SECRETARY OF IRELAND TO RESIGN

London, April 1.—The Daily Chronicle states that Mr. Macpherson, Chief Secretary for Ireland, is resigning on the ground of ill-health and will take over the Ministry of Pensions.

SINN FEINERS JAILED AFTER SWEEP OF 40 MILES

London, March 30.—A midnight sweep of Sinn Feiners over a radius of 40 miles round Londonderry resulted in Londonderry prison being crowded with 70 Sinn Seiners, who were most demonstrative, singing republican songs at the windows, necessitating the quartering of troops with machine-guns and an armored car in the prison yard.

Those arrested included Joseph Sweeney, Sinn Fein M.P. for West Donegal.

POLICE BARRACKS BOMBED BY MOB AT MIDNIGHT

London, March 31.—A hundred armed men at midnight attacked the Darrus police barracks, near Skibbereen, with rifles, and bombs, blowing up portions of the building. They were however driven off after a three hours fight. Two constables were wounded.

London, April 1.—The Government majority of 254 at the second reading of the Home Rule Bill yesterday was unexpectedly large. There is no doubt that the speeches of the Prime Minister and Sir Edward Carson, which were the outstanding feature of the debate, secured many votes for the Government. The discussion showed that the Coalitionists revolting against the Government were fewer than had been anticipated. The minority consisted of 44 Labor members, 22 Coalition Unionists, 21 Independent Liberals, and 7 Nationalists.

Not one single member of an Irish constituency voted for the Bill, but this was balanced by the fact that only three Irish members voted against it. In fact the second reading of the Bill was carried by a House in which Ireland was largely unrepresented. Four Ministers, Ulster Irishmen, abstained from voting for the Government's principal measure.

BILL IS REGARDED AS INGENIOUS COMPROMISE

The Bill has scarcely an enthusiastic press. It is regarded as an ingenious compromise that has eluded critics, but there is a consensus of opinion that it is the only feasible scheme for carrying out Great Britain's pledge to Ireland.

The tone of the debate showed that the Bill will enter the Committee stage with an earnest desire on the part of members to make it a practicable measure. The chief struggle in Committee will be to alter the area of the Northern Parliament from six to nine counties.

The conciliatory tone of Sir Edward Carson's peroration, especially his readiness to meet the West and South of Ireland, is regarded as a good augury of the possibility of achieving union and peace through statesmanship and goodwill. The fact that Ulster has assented to the Bill, though grudgingly, is of cardinal importance, while the South of Ireland will be given an opportunity of becoming a civilised country.

GUERILLA WARFARE IS ADVICE TO VOLUNTEERS

London, March 31.—A copy of the official organ of the Sinn Fein Volunteers, seized at Cork, contains instructions to the Volunteers stating that "the form of war most feared by Imperialist armies of conquest is a prolonged guerilla warfare in which they are unable to gain a moment of security or to gain an opportunity of crushing the enemy."

The instructions recommend surprises, ambushes, raids, the sniping of stragglers, the interruption of communications, etc.

Tornadoes Death Roll Reaches Total Of 161

(Reuter's Service)

Chicago, April 2.—The latest reports show that the number of deaths in the various States as a result of the tornadoes is as follows:

Indiana, 36; Illinois, 30; Ohio, 26; Michigan, 12; Georgia, 38; Alabama, 17; Missouri, 1; Wisconsin, 1; a total of 161.

Chicago, March 30, later.—It is now estimated that 160 persons were killed, many hundreds injured and $9,000,000 damage done in the tornado.

SOVIET NOTE TO CHINA REVEALED

Text In Its Entirety Is Given To The Peking Public

Kerensky Government, and the brigands Horvath, Semenoff, Kolchak, the Russian ex-generals, lawyers and capitalists. The Soviet Government renounces the contribution by China for the Boxer insurrection of 1900.

RENOUNCE BOXER MONEY

"It seems necessary to repeat this a third time because it is reported that in spite of our renouncement of this contribution it is still being paid to the Allies for the upkeep of the former imperial minister in Peking and the former imperial consuls in China. The powers given to these officers of the Tsar have long since ceased to exist, but the officers continue to live in their houses and fool the Chinese public with the assistance of Japan and the Allies. The Chinese people should take cognisance for this fact and banish these liars and fools from their territory.

"The Soviet Government will do away with all special privileges, all factories of Russian merchants in Chinese territory, and no official, whether Russian priest or missionary, can escape judgment before a local Chinese court for any crime committed. There shall not exist in China any power or law which is not that of the Chinese people, with the exception of some principal points which shall be taken up between the ministers plenipotentiaries of the Soviet Government and the Chinese people. Every other question and all acts of violence and injustice which have been committed against China by Japan and the Allies and by the former Russian Government shall be atoned for.

SEEK CONFERENCE

"The Soviet Government is perfectly aware of the fact that the Allies and Japan did everything possible to prevent the voice of the Russian workmen and peasants being heard by the Chinese people lest they understand that our armies are marching towards Siberia and Manchuria to assist the Siberian peasants and workmen in freeing themselves from the domination of the bandit Kolchak and his allies the Japanese. If the Chinese people at the instance of the Russian people wish to become free and to avoid the fate which has been reserved for them by the Allies at Versailles which is to make of their country a second Korea or another India, they should make a fight for liberty with the workmen and peasants of Russia, and the Red Army.

"The Soviet Government offers to the Chinese people an opportunity to establish official relations and asks them to send their representative to the front of our Russian army.

"Signed by direction of the Commissary for Foreign Affairs, Karakhin, a copy conforming with the Delegate Plenipotentiary of the Council of the Commissaries of the People for Foreign Affairs in Siberia and the Far East, Janson."

Albany, March 31.—The Committee of the New York State Assembly which has been investigating the charge of disloyalty against five Socialist members of the Assembly, voted by seven votes to six in favor of their expulsion.

The majority report of the Committee advocates the enactment of a law to exclude the Socialist Party of America from the official State ballot as, the report declares, "the party is a disloyal organisation, composed exclusively of perpetual traitors."

Street Unions Ask Chinese Members On Municipal Council

An appeal for Chinese representation on the Shanghai Municipal Council will be made by the Street Union at the ratepayers' meeting tomorrow, according to a resolution passed at a meeting of the executive committee of the Union yesterday. NOTE EXPLAINS POSITION OF U.S. ON TURK TREATY

Washington Is Unwilling To Be Represented At Conferences Now

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, March 31.—The American reply to the Allied note with regard to the status of the United States in the Turkish Treaty negotiations expresses the opinion that the "oft expressed intention of the Allies that the anomaly of the Turks in Europe should cease" should be carried out in framing the Turkish Treaty.

The note says that it does not seem advisable that the United States should be at present represented at the conferences but as it is vitally interested in the future peace of the world, it should frankly express its views on the proposed solutions of the difficult questions connected with the Turkish Treaty. The note expresses gratification that Russia is to be represented on the proposed council for the government of Constantinople and the Straits as the United States is of opinion that no arrangement can be permanent unless Russia's vital interests are protected.

The note expresses the opinion that part of East Thrace outside the Constantinople zone should be given to Greece but that Adrianople, Kirk Kilissia and the surrounding territory should be given to Bulgaria, and that the boundaries of Armenia should be drawn so as to recognise all the legitimate claims of the Armenians, particularly that of easy access to the sea. The note suggests that Trebizond should be given to Armenia and that Turkey should place Mesopotamia, Arabia, Palestine, Syria and the islands in the hands of the Great Powers for disposal.

London, March 31.—The Supreme Council has offered the mandate of Armenia, comprising the republic of Erivan adjoining Turkish and Armenian territory, with an outlet to the Black Sea, to the League of Nations.

British Minister On Vessel From Tokio

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, April 5.—Mr. Beilby Alston, British Minister to China, sails today on board the H.M.S. Hawkins for Shanghai, leaving at about 5 p.m.

Marie Tempest

"The best way to keep him is to be at least six women in one." This is something like one of the lines in the play 'Penelope' in which the great English actress, Marie Tempest, appeared before a large Shanghai audience at the Lyceum Theater last night for the first time. To be six women all rolled into one needs a lot of doing but I fancy that this has been—and is the secret of Miss Marie Tempest's wonderful success as a player throughout her career.

Take all the big actresses of the past generation; pick from their work all the best bits; piece them together in a harmonious whole; and then you have Marie Tempest. She is honestly delightful. She has a charm about her which cannot but make an immediate appeal. I have seen her before many times and with the passing years she has only grown in grace and cleverness. To the regular playgoer her wonderful amount of business, always so unobtrusive, and yet always so convincing, is a joy to behold. Shanghai is sure to like Miss Tempest and the more they see of her the more they will want. Welcome little lady.

That is as much as I can say at this late hour but more anon. 'Penelope' is a play with but little plot. It is saved by the abundance of really clever lines. So many of the comedies of late years strike one as being not quite good enough for the players. This seems to be the case with 'Penelope.' But Miss Tempest has so good a company that they can make any play feel good.

I like Graham Browne immensely and from his fine reception I fancy the whole house is with me in my admiration. The best word to describe his work is "Polish." His every movement cries out the word. He is a gentlemen to the finger tips. His voice, its appeal; his movement, its rythm; his business, its conviction; all tell the consummate artist. As Dr. O'Farrel he was a delight. He kept up just sufficient brogue to depict the Irish gentlemen and he reminded me strongly of one of our best known local Irish advocates in his intonations.

The rest of the cast were all in keeping with the high standard set by the two brilliant players under review.

Tonight the same play will be repeated and can be recommended. The first change of bill will be on Thursday night when 'The Marriage of Kitty' will be produced.

More than a passing word should be devoted to the scenery. All the sets were mounted with curtains and the scenes proved as convincing as they were artistic.

Fletcher Brockman Speaks At 'Y' Convention In Tientsin

ORGANISATION EFFICIENT

But for these two Tientsin secretaries, our baggage would have been heaped up on the station platform in hopeless confusion. They collected all heavy hand luggage in exchange for numbered blue claim checks. We were told that all we had to do on our arrival was to hasten to the Wesley church to register and find out to what host and in what part of the city we were assigned. It was a fine piece of organisation for it developed later that in some instances the baggage reached its destination before the owner himself.

On arrival at Tientsin, instead of finding the military police drawn up on the station platform with fixed bayonets to meet this semi-political horde from the south as was the welcome some predicted, we found a great crowd of civilians greeting us with friendly yells and cheers. Yang Fuh was represented, to be sure, not by soldiers but by his own band. This hearty reception was appreciated by the 437 delegates who climbed off the train.

We tumbled out of the trams in front of Wesley Church which was decorated by evergreens and an electrically lighted red triangle over the main entrance. The rest of the evening was spent finding out where we were to go for the night. Some delegates had failed to observe the carefully written instructions at some point and were therefor herded off in one corner till the others had been told off where to go.

LI YUAN-HUNG SPEAKS

The first meeting of the convention was called for four o'clock on April 1. Professor Chang Po-ling of Nankai College presided and introduced Ex-President Li Yuan-hung.

The house was packed in anticipation by the hundreds who had often seen the name and commented on the deeds of the Ex-President, but who never had been so fortunate as to see him with their own eyes. And the distinguished speaker was in fine fettle. He looked less harassed than when a few years ago the duties of a difficult job rested on his shoulders. He spoke in Mandarin fluently, clearly and in short sentences which were interpreted in English by his secretary, Mr. Chi Lien-sun.

He said: "I take great pleasure in extending you a most hearty welcome on this important occasion of the eighth convention of the Young Men's Christian Association.

"It is an indisputable fact that the foundation of a nation is its people. If they are strong in intellect, in morality, in body and in spirit, then that nation will have a normal society. With a normal society the progress of a nation is assured.

"During the European war the American troops were accompanied and taken care of en route from their homes to the various battlefields by the people of the American Young Men's Christian Association. It was through this institution that the troops were kept in touch by correspondence with their families and were also kept busy in other useful activities when they were not fighting. In a word, the Young Men's Christian Association relieved tremendously the anxieties of the troops and the people at home.

"Today we see not only the American Young Men's Christian Associations have done a wonderful work, but we also see that Japan and the Continental countries have made considerable progress. In view of these developments in other countries I hope there will be Young Men's Christian Associations in every city and town in China and in the world so that men may have a common idea of service and that there may also be mutual sympathy and co-operation among nations. If this is attained no inhuman acts can be committed and no injustice can be done. Hence, world peace will come to a realisation.

"America has made a splendid example in building up Young Men's Christian Associations which we expect to strive to follow. The responsibility for doing this rests with you delegates here today."

Following Li Yuan-hun's address, Yen Chih-i, Commissioner of Industry spoke on behalf of the local officials. He came in the place of his father Yen Fan-suen, who was ill. These addresses of welcome were responded to by Wen Pei-san a delegate from Shanghai.

FLETCHER BROCKMAN BACK

One of the pioneer secretaries of the Y.M.C.A. in China, Mr. Fletcher S. Brockman, was back after an absence from the country of five years. He came to China 22 years ago when the movement was still in its infancy. He was the chief speaker at the first evening session. His address delivered in English was interpreted by the senior secretary of the local Y.M.C.A., Mr. Wang Chih-ping. It was on the subject, "The Impossible Task."

Mr. Brockman was introduced by the general secretary, Mr. David Z. T. Yui of Shanghai. Mr. Brockman's address was a review of the development of the Y.M.C.A. in China from its small beginnings to the present time.

He said in part:

REVIEWS HISTORY

"Let us pause for a moment and think of that little band first gathered together in this city. I suppose if they, in their vision, could have seen this great gathering of delegates drawn from every part of the Nation, representing the strong Associations in almost every capital city and metropolis and many of the universities and colleges, they would have said, "This is a picture of the imagination and impossible of realisation." How small and insignificant that gathering seemed. Here it was, in the days of the Manchu Dynasty (anti-Christian in spirit and unsympathetic with any such movement as the Young Men's Christian Association)—but a flickering candle in the wind of every hostile spirit, certainly it would die in a night and be forgotten.

"If someone had told them that there would be a Convention like this and a movement behind it such as this, they would have said, "Ah! Those delegates will have no problems and no discouragements. They will come together jubilantly to plan for the future and rejoice in the past." And I must confess that, this afternoon as I looked at the distinguished gathering upon this platform, and then as I looked at this gathering this evening and caught the spell of the enthusiasm and considered all that was behind this movement, it seemed to me that there were no problems that could not be solved that there was nothing to face—nothing to do but rejoice.

LOOK BEYOND WALLS

"But then it occurred to me how wrong it would be for us to inclose ourselves within these walls and look at each other. I thought how necessary it is that we remember that we had not come together to rejoice in the victories of the past but to solve the problems that face us in the future.

"We need to bear in mind that these 25 years since we have gathered together, and especially the last decade of these 25 years, have brought on changes in the world so momentous that centuries seem to have passed instead of years. These changes have filled the world with new hopes, and rightly, but they have also filled the world with new terrors and have made every thoughtful man realise that we ought to stagger under the sense of the great burdens of everyone who is willing to help reconstruct society throughout the world. Since I left China, these five years have been more or less closely connected with the great war. I have been in touch with this awful disaster, that swept over the western world. I have traveled for days in rapid automobiles over the devastated areas of Italy, of France and of Belgium. I have seen great cities, with thousands of homes in them before the war, every one entirely destroyed so that not a bed could be sheltered through the night in the entire city. I passed by graves after graves, countless numbers of them—and yet I knew there were countless numbers more that I had not seen. There are eleven millions of the flower of the young manhood of Europe and America that lie buried in Europe. I have seen those nations struggling and staggering under the burden that follows the war, the attempt to take up the whole work of reconstruction—realising that perhaps 500 years will not be sufficient to undo the disaster of the last five.

LABOR AND CLASS TROUBLES

"All over the Western world there is still turmoil. There are labor troubles. There are class troubles. Just a little while ago there were still twenty-five wars in Europe. There never was a time when young men were called together under such circumstances of such great peril as well as such great opportunity. There was never a generation that had to grasp questions of such vital importance and such difficulty as the generation in which you and I now live.

"You may say that this is ungracious of me, at the very beginning of this Convention to bring us face to face with the awful need of the world and the awful problems of the world. But fellow delegates I have had the situation in the world burned into my very soul. I could not meet with you in this first hour without having to ask you to face the fact that all young men in every part of the world are called to endeavor to face difficult situations such as have never been known before. If we turn from the western world, and think of the situation in China, certainly we must realise that here also, there are staggering problems and enormous difficulties that have to be overcome.

"If we think of what lies before the Young Men's Christian Association—think of that burden-alone—we see before us a great task. We have organised some twenty-nine or thirty cities, but there are 1900 walled cities in China alone. There are almost limitless fields still unoccupied. Think of the boundless problem China changing socially that lies before the Young Men's Christian Associations in China.

"If we turn to other lines of activity in the nation: Think of education. Think of the problem of illiteracy. The nation is now a republic. It rests on the intelligent loyalty of every individual; and yet, how high is the degree of illiteracy in China.

RECONSTRUCTION IS NEEDED

"The changes that have come in the past few years have vitally affected the social life of the nation. We are in the midst of social reconstruction. It must be reconstruction or it will be social chaos. What an enormous task! calling for the co-operation of millions to accomplish. Think of the problem that lies before the Church in the immediate future in the nation—the situation filled with hope and yet with peril. Think of the situation that affects the very existence of the nation and its standing among the nations of the world.

"It does not do us any good to decline to face facts. It does not do us good to try to lull ourselves into sleep with a false optimism. Any man that faces the situation in the world today—any man that faces it in China—is amazed both at the colossal size of the task and at its amazing and alarming urgency. That is the word: urgency. Leading statesmen of the country were saying to me today: 'Let China alone ten years and she will work everything out.' That is quite right; but who will be brave enough to say that China is to be let alone ten years. Ten days she cannot be let alone. I say there is no need to lull ourselves into sleep by false optimism. There are at least three kinds of false optimism:

"Here is the man that is unwilling to face the facts. The wise man in all things is the man that is willing to face the facts whatever they are and act in accordance with the facts.

EDUCATION IS SAVIOR

"And then there is the man that says. 'Oh, it will come out right, all right, somehow.' Things come out right when we make them come out right. No boat ever drifted up stream.

"Then there is the third fellow's optimism, who loans on supports that are not sufficient—that will break. Here is the man that says that education will be the savior of the world, that that is all that the democracies of the world need—education. If by 'education' we mean moral and spiritual education, that is one thing; but if we simply mean intellectual improvement, that is another. Education, as it is usually spoken of, simply increases a man's powers. If he is a rascal, it increases the field and the force of his rascality. If he is a good man it increases the field and the force of his goodness.

"But I hasten to say that I believe there is a solid basis for real optimism. The first basis for a real optimism that I would mention is this, that God rules the World. Kaisers and Tsars and monarchs and kings look as if they had the reins of the world in their hands, and suddenly their hands are paralysed and we see that they are but human after all, and that their power is negligible. We see great empires rise, with enormous armies and navies; and it looks as if there, at least, is real power—and suddenly they go as if turned into dust before our eyes. Men and corporations with enormous wealth seem to control the lives of millions, and we say, 'There is a power that cannot be broken.' But suddenly that goes to pieces. Fellow delegates, I know I am saying things that everyone of us is saying. Well, that is a commonplace. Of course, it is true. But have we put that into our thinking and into our plans? When we are discouraged, have we reminded ourselves that God is King?—that nothing can stand before him. God seems to sleep, but He doesn't. God seems to forget, but He doesn't. God seems not to see, but His eyes burn into every spot that is contrary to His will. The tiniest baby is safe in His hands; but the mightiest King is sure to go 'smash' if he goes against God. Why is it that the Christian is ever pessimistic or discouraged?—only one reason, that he has forgotten that God lives.

MUST FIGHT SIN

"I must hasten to mention one other law of performing the impossible; and that is that we must realise the terrible cost that is required to save the world—to save China. Fellow delegates, can I say something tonight that will make you realise that I mean by 'the cost of saving the world' something different than we have realised heretofore? Am I a business man—has not this been my attitude recently: I spend my real life in making money for myself. I use a little of my luxury in helping other people and in working for good causes. If you went to save the world, you have got to die in the process. You hate opium and morphia; how much fighting have you done against opium and morphia? I think of Tong Kai-sun, who fought that marvellous battle against opium in the Shanghai International Council. Tong Kai-sun seemed to think that a single idle moment was a crime.

"And so you, fellow delegates, when you go back home and see some evil in your city, and the voice of God comes to you that that it must be cleaned up—if you simply hear that voice and do nothing, it is not faith, it is of no value. But if you are risking being put into jail—if you are risking your reputation—if you are risking your business standing in order to correct that evil, that is faith; that is fighting in partnership with God."

Every day your complexion pays toll to dust and wind

The rough, cold winds chap and roughen the skin; dry heated air draws and parches it. The constant strain under which we live—the ceaseless activity of crowded days, the constant effort, the lack of rest—all these things take daily toll of the complexion.

You can protect your complexion from the wear and tear of both summer and winter—can prevent that tired, drawn look from appearing in your face, by giving your skin the care it needs.

Apply a little Pond's Vanishing Cream when you motor or travel; rub it in lightly. This will protect the sensitive pores from grit and grime, will keep your skin free from that parched feeling that generally follows exposure to dust and dirt.

It has a wonderfully beautifying effect, and as a base for powder it is so effective that one powdering is sufficient for the whole evening.

This fragrant, dewy cream contains a skin-softening ingredient of great value, one that skin specialists recognize as most efficient in keeping the skin supple, for giving it the transparent freshness everyone admires.

U.S. ADMIRAL FACE CHARGES

Fletcher Accused Of Acts That Imperiled Men On His Ships

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, April 3.—Captain B. C. Long, operations officer on Admiral Sims' staff, continuing his evidence before the Naval court of Enquiry stated that the convoy of the Antilles was proceeding in line ahead formation, the most dangerous formation possible. Rear-Admiral Fletcher had previously received instructions to issue orders for the adoption of the line abreast formation but these orders were never issued.

Every convoy, the witness declared, that left Brest when Rear-Admiral Fletcher was in command, proceeded in column formation and was thus particularly vulnerable to submarine attack. Rear-Admiral Fletcher's counsel produced a letter from Admiral Sims to the Navy Department stating that the available convoy forces at Brest were wholly inadequate.

DEFENSE FINISHED

Washington, April 2.—Rear-Admiral Fletcher today concluded his defense of the Brest convoy operations. His evidence has lasted five days. Flag-Lieutenant Carlton, who was serving under Rear-Admiral Fletcher said that the operating orders given to Rear-Admirals Fletcher and Wilson were substantially the same.

Rear-Admiral Fletcher in the course of his defense said that the Antilles and two other vessels were left to the protection of two yachts and that when the yachts were driven back into port by a storm the transport was torpedoed.

Lieutenant J. Carey and Commander F. M. Baldwin, members of the staff at Brest, gave evidence disclosing the fact that there was factional feeling among the staff.

Commander Baldwin said that the prevailing impression was that Rear-Admiral Fletcher did not make full use of his staff. Lieutenant Carey stated that the officers on the staff criticised Rear-Admiral Fletcher's administration freely, each wanting to "run the whole show."

FLETCHER IS BLAMED

Washington, April 2.—Rear-Admiral Fuller, giving evidence before the Senate Naval Committee today, said that, because of the Navy Department's policy of indifference, no effort was made to bring the Navy to a state of preparedness before the war. In 1915, the witness continued, he took command of the Pacific reserve fleet which at that time had such small complements that the ships could not be removed from dock. Rear-Admiral Fuller declared that the whole Navy was fatally short of men.

According to the evidence of Captain B. C. Long, operation officer on Admiral Sims' staff, the loss of the transport Antilles was to be attributed directly to Rear-Admiral Fletcher's disregard of Admiral Sims' orders.

Mr. Symons Installed As Dean At Cathedral

Service Conducted By Dean Walker, Who Preaches Farewell Sermon

The Very Reverend A. J. Walker preached his farewell sermon at the Holy Trinity Cathedral Sunday after installing his successor as dean, the Rev. Charles John Fitzimon Symons. The ceremony followed matins and just after the Nicene Creed in the Communion service. Dean Walker recited the intention of Bishop Molony to institute Mr. Symons as dean and prayed for divine guidance for his successor. Mr. Edney Page presented Mr. Symons and the latter made the usual declaration.

Oaths of allegiance and canonical obedience followed and then came the institution.

Dean Walker, in his farewell sermon, took for his text "Jesus said to them again 'Peace be unto you; as the Father has sent me, even so I send you'"

Pacific Mail Ship Not Damaged By Grounding; Sails For Manila Today

Passengers aboard the Pacific Mail liner Colombia when the steamer ran on a mud bank 14 miles from Yokohama a week ago refused to go ashore and enjoyed special dinners and tea dances while cargo was being taken from the hold in an attempt to refloat the ship. People arriving in the Colombia yesterday were high in their praises of Purser F. D. Bates and Chief Steward F. L. Lawyes for the entertainment provided for passengers while the liner was aground.

The Columbia was not damaged by the mishap and after having been floated proceeded to Kobe and Shanghai without trouble. Four hundred tons of cargo unloaded from the steamer will be brought from Yokohama on the West Inskip, due here tomorrow. The liner went aground shortly after midnight a week ago today during a dense fog.

Nearly G.$9,000,000 in silver and gold bullion for local banks, 452 sacks of American mail and 25 passengers were brought in at noon on the Colombia.

Among the passengers for this port were Mr. F. W. Hadley, local American attorney; Mr. J. O. Kennedy, Mr. C. E. Bosworth, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Grant, Mr. E. H. Grooms and Mr. F. P. Lockwood.

The Colombia sails today at noon for Manila and Hongkong with a complete list, among them 68 through passengers. Included in the list of passengers boarding here are Mr. John J. Gorman, general agent of the Admiral Line, who is going on an inspection trip to Far East ports which will keep him away from Shanghai until June. Mr. Gorman is accompanied by his wife.

Others are Mr. William F. Fox, overseas commissioner in charge of Knights of Columbus post-war work in the Far East; Mr. J. R. Burgett of Messrs. Rice and Hutchins, Major E. Carrion, aide de camp to the King of Spain, Mr. J. D. Visser, former Boer general, who has been deputy comptroller for the Y.M.C.A. in Siberia; Mr. J. A. Shealy, Far Eastern manager of Messrs. Getz Brothers of the Orient; Mr. Harry A. Pfeifer of Messrs. Cooper, Coates and Casey of Los Angeles; Mr. Thomas O'Brien of Thomas Simmons and Company; Dr. Frazier, U. S. N., Mr. Maurice Seid of the Thomas Day Company, San Francisco; and a party of New York buyers. This group includes representatives of big American Department stores: Miss M. Carter, Messrs. C. Lautman, C. Robinson, L. A. Carter and Misses C. Rice, C. Sonnberg and C. Arnold.

Mrs. R. L. Hague, wife of the Director of Building of the United States Shipping Board, is a through passenger.

MAIL TO MANILA

Mail for Manila will close at the American Postal Agency this morning at 10 o'clock to be sent on the Pacific Mail Steamship Company liner Colombia, sailing direct for Manila at noon.

The next mail for the United States will be by the Empress of Asia on April 10.

A WARNING TO MOTHERS

Never give a baby a sleeping draught, a soothing mixture, or an opiate of any kind whatever, except by the order of a competent doctor who has seen the child. All these things are poison, and they are moreover utterly needless, while the sleep they give is unhealthy, unnatural and injurious.

In Baby's Own Tablets there is not one atom of "sleeping stuff." Yet by their beneficial, healthy action they give refreshing sleep, sleep from which the child awakens bright and well.

Mrs. George Foote, of St. Thomas, Ontario, Canada, writes:—"My baby was troubled with diarrhoea, was very restless and cross, and got but very little sleep. I hardly knew what to do with her. I got a bottle of Baby's Owo Tablets and after using them she could sleep well and her bowels became regular. I am much pleased with the Tablets and think them a fine medicine."

Baby's Own Tablets, the Canadian children's remedy, are obtainable from chemists, or post free, 60 cents the vial; from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

countries. Men are going back to work.

WORK IS NECESSARY

"A year ago in Paris I asked Signor Orlando, he then was Premier of Italy, what was the thing that Italy needed most for restoration. 'Was it American credit?' I asked, American credit will be helpful, was his reply, but over and above everything else we need to work, to work, to work. His prescription was the formula and in Italy it has been followed out, in France it has been followed out and even in more marked extent in Belgium. When the King of the Belgians was in America last autumn he told me that of the 300,000 men who in little Belgium were out of employment when I had left France a few months before, all but 200,000 of them were engaged actively in work and I have no doubt that now all but a remnant of that 200,000 have returned to their wonted tasks.

"British trade shows even greater signs of revival and restoration. Our British brethren are apt to be gloomy about themselves. They readily criticise their own institutions and are sometimes the first to detect their own shortcomings, but British trade is certainly on the upgrade and for the long future Great Britain has nothing to fear commercially in the Far East or anywhere else.

"Now and again some of my British friends have expressed their dismay over the depreciation of the pound sterling as compared with the American dollar, and some have even gone so far as to inquire whether this depreciation was not due in some measure to American speculative effort. There has been practically no speculation in America in exchange. One does not have to seek for obscure and extraordinary causes to account for a perfectly natural phenomenon.

BALANCE OF TRADE

"The present predominance of the American dollar over sterling has been due simply to America's extraordinary balance of trade. The demand for dollars is therefore far greater than the demand for sterling. In the very early days of the war, just the reverse was the case. At that time dollars were plentiful and sterling was scarce and in New York we had to bid seven dollars for a pound and were not able to supply our wants at that. That situation was due not to speculation but to natural causes.

"Look for a moment now to the natural causes which have brought about the present sterling situation. In the last five years America has exported commodities to the value of 26 billion dollars; she has imported a little over 12 billion dollars. And the net balance remaining in her favor for the last five years has, therefore, been almost 14 billion dollars. How could it be otherwise than that dollars should be in tremendous demand and should temporarily outrun sterling, francs, lire, etc.

"Has America made an attempt herself to restore the equilibrium and to assist the merchants in Great Britain, France, Italy and elsewhere who desired to purchase American goods without paying a premium? Indeed she has! America has lent to those countries that I have just named to the limit of her capacity. Our Government in a space of a little over two years loaned to the Allied Governments approximately 10 billion dollars. Not a small part of this was used by these Governments for the legitimate purposes of their manufacturers and merchants. Investors in America during the war and immediately subsequent to it loaned to those countries between two and three billion dollars and bought back American securities to the value of probably an equal amount. The greatest possible effort has been made in America to meet the needs of our Allies in Europe who suffered throughout the war so grievously in every way. In order to meet these needs we have had to levy extraordinarily heavy taxation upon our people and have had to raise huge sums from the sale of Government bonds to our people.

MONEY RAISED IN U.S.

"For instance, within a space of three years the American Government contributed almost 40 billion dollars to their Government, approximately 25 billion dollars in the purchase of Liberty Bonds and 15 billion dollars in extraordinary war taxation. Thus, I say, within the space of three years America raised a sum equal, as I remember it, to the total British war costs for the entire war. I quote these figures not in a spirit of boastfulness but simply as tangible evidence to show that in raising these huge sums of money America has been making loyal and earnest attempts to assist the economic as well as the war situation of her Allies, who on that score certainly have no cause for complaint. The American man of large wealth has today to pay a heavier income tax than the man of similar income in Great Britain and a far heavier one than his co-equal in France.

"And now just a word addressed especially to you as members of the University Club and the Bankers Association in Shanghai. Today of all times it behooves you to encourage and to stimulate the further education of the intelligent youth of China. The ravages of the war have made an appalling shortage in the youth of the world. In France alone 57 percent of all the officers and soldiers under the age of 31 lost their lives. Remember, too, how Great Britain flung the flower of her flock into the struggle and how many hundred thousand of them lie under the bloody fields of Northern France and Flanders.

"Remember, too, that these young men of France and of England included, in large measure, minds filled with imagination, vision, and sometimes, genius; the sort of minds, which, when trained in our educational institutions, carry on the tasks of the world with quick intelligence and power. How many Edisons, how many village Hampdens, perished in those years? Let one never forget that the dreamers of today are the doers of tomorrow.

PROBLEM OF TODAY

"All this means that the burden upon you and upon me as men with college educations is to do everything we can to fill up these terrible gaps. I hope to hear from this time on that the number of promising Chinese students going out to America and to England for graduate educations will be doubled, yea quadrupled, over what it has been in the past. China as much as any other country in the world needs men of trained minds for leadership today; leadership in banking, in commerce, in social affairs, in manufacture, and above all in statesmanship. Such leadership can be cultivated only through the cultivation and training of the strong and eager young minds, with many of which I have already come in contact during my brief stay in China.

"When you here, who are already graduates of some of our colleges in America, return to those halls of learning for your reunions, as I hope you often will, you will, at your Alma Mater invariably find set up a roster recording the names of those students who have fallen in the great cause and above that roster will be that noble old Latin inscription, "Dulce et decorum est pro patria mori." Yes, it is sweet and fitting to die for one's country, but now, thank God, the time for dying is passed. This is the time for living, more vitally, more strongly, than ever before. China needs you, the world needs you, with all capacity and knowledge and earnestness of purpose that you can show to grapple and to solve these great problems that are pressing upon us today and upon which the restoration of the world depends."

SUNG HAN-CHANG SPEAKS

Mr. Sung said: "I came here to welcome and to do honor to Mr. T. W. Lamont for three reasons; first, because he comes on a mission to provide means to help China; second, for the great financial work which he has accomplished for the world's greatest war which has just ended; and third for the grandeur of vision which he possesses for the future.

"It is indeed not only a privilege but also a great opportunity for us to come into contact with a man of such ripened experience in international affairs, and we are sure that the results of his visit to China will be of mutual benefit, in every sense of the phrase, to America, to China, to himself and to us all.

"For months we have been anticipating the pleasure of his presence and, as a spokesman for the business men of Shanghai, particularly for the local banking association, I have the honor to extend to him a most sincere and cordial welcome. May his sojourn in our country be a most successful, pleasant and enjoyable one and that he will carry back with him to America a thought always fragrant with sweet memories.

"To him are not only our officials looking forward for the success of his mission but our merchants, bankers and other classes are also building high hopes upon his financial keenness to promote industrial enterprises so as to put China on a firm footing as a producer.

CAPITAL IS NEEDED

"China is rich in latent energy, in raw materials and in man power but in order to utilise them to the greatest advantage to mankind and to develop them, we must have capital. Mr. Lamont's coming is most opportune for our people are now realising the necessity of co-operation in developing the country's industries as well as natural resource and that the real strength of a nation depends upon her power as a producer. With the help of foreign capital and the co-operation of the Chinese people, we can depend that within 20 years industries in China will be greatly advanced and such advancement will not only be a blessing to the Chinese people but also a benefit to all nations.

"For this reason, we welcome the proposal of the New Consortium or the message conveyed by Mr. Lamont to promote the industrial development for the benefit of the Chinese people. To the common mind it would seem that by helping China to build up her industries it would be detrimental to the industries of other nations.

"This indeed is erroneous, because if industries in China are developed, it would mean that her power as a consumer would be increased in a corresponding ratio. She would be a self protecting nation and the peace of the world would be better secured.

FOR PUBLIC BENEFIT

"We hope, however, that the purpose and intention of the New Consortium in financing the needs of China are different from those of the Old Consortium. We as merchants do not favor the loans to be used for purposes other than that for the development of industries which will be beneficial to the Chinese public and not to the individual few.

"Loans for political purposes would only mean more internal strife, hence would be a hindrance rather than a help for the development of industries. Therefore, the most important point for the Consortium to bear in mind is to co-operate with the Chinese public, particularly the business class so that they may also contribute their share to help their own country. Their contributions may be small as compared with those of the members of our foreign friends, but the idea is not so much in the comparison as in showing the real spirit of co-operation and the sincerity of the Consortium to really help China.

"In inviting the business class to participate in making loans to China, you pave the way to successful working. First of all you clear the doubts of the Chinese people that the foreign Powers wish to actually control China politically; secondly, you will understand the Chinese people more so that you can help us to the fullest extent, because we can always interchange ideas directly and less misunderstanding will result. The wish of the Consortium is for success in their financial undertaking in China, but success can only come through co-operation with the Chinese public.

CURRENCY REFORM

"We understand that another aim of the Consortium is to help China to reform her currency system. Indeed, such a reform is badly needed for it is her ununiformity of currency which retards the speed of her progress in commerce. The Chinese public would be most glad to welcome a reform of this kind but again you must have their co-operation for it is they who know their own needs.

"The intention of the Consortium in making loans to the Chinese Government may be well and good but that is not saying that they know the real needs of the people and that the loan is for the people's direct benefit.

"Take, for instance, the loan secured by the salt revenues made by the Old Consortium to our Government. What good has this loan been to the Chinese people? The money derived from the revenues is kept in foreign banks and whatever surplus left is used for purposes from which the people receive no benefit. If, however, the Chinese public had been invited to participate in the loan, surely a greater use could be derived from the money.

"Some people may argue that if Chinese representation is admitted to such matters corruption will result. But this is not any more so than the fear that the election of Chinese members to the governing body of the Shanghai Municipal Council would place the settlement in the hands of corrupt Chinese. Participation in such matters by the representative Chinese public only means a more successful working of the scheme because of better facilities for the interchange of ideas, hence a sympathetic feeling for each other's needs.

FORMER LOANS WASTED

Undoubtedly most of the former loans of the Old Consortium had been either wasted or been of no benefit to the Chinese public but we hope that the New Consortium under Mr. Lamont's efficient leadership, will pave a way for a great future for China's progress. It is not fair to judge us by the acts of a corrupt few. You must give the Chinese public a chance to show that there are honest and able men among them. They have been awakened from the drowsy sleep of centuries and they have now come to welcome those who have a good message to urge them to progress.

"It is to be regretted that your sojourn in China takes you only to the metropolis and the capital. Would that it were possible for you to make your stay longer so that you may have time to study into the needs of the people in the interior and see that the latent energy and resources which we have in China and which, we hope, will amply repay the generosity and friendly help of the American Government. But however short your stay may be, we wish you success in your mission and we avow our co-operation with you in any enterprise which will be beneficial to the Chinese people as a whole."

Mr. Lamont Is Guest At Foreign Bureau

Mr. Lamont was the guest of honor at a reception given by Mr. Yang Tcheng, Special Envoy of Foreign Affairs, General Wang Yi-tang, the Northern Peace Delegate and General Ho Fung-ling the local Defense Commissioner. Over 100 guests attended. The band of the Arsenal played several lively selections. Refreshments were provided by M. Y. San and company.

Children Cry for Fletcher's
CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is particularly a preparation for Infants and Children made agreeable to the taste, acceptable to the stomach and pleasant in its action. It has been in use for over thirty years and has always been one of the most highly esteemed of all cathartic preparations. It has one great advantage over other preparations of its kind in that while it opens the organs readily and completely, it does not have a tendency to produce subsequent constipation so much to be dreaded.

It was only after years of research in the fields of herbs and roots for a combination of purely vegetable matter that would have all the virtues of Castor Oil, without its disagreeable, nauseating properties, especially when used for infants or children, that the formula used in Fletcher's Castoria was found, and which for over 30 years has proven its worth. Try it.

Save the Babies.

Infantry mortality is something frightful. We can hardly realise that of all the children born in civilised countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one quarter die before they reach one year, thirty-seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one half before they are fifteen! We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save many of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestion, sickness, death. To avoid any possibility of giving your child opiates, or narcotics of any kind, keep Fletcher's Castoria in the house, and Save the Babies.

Americans Predict China Will Be Raw Silk Power

Italy's production is likely to decrease rather than increase.

CHINA HAS OPPORTUNITY

"Just as Italy is devoting more attention to the production of foodstuffs at the expense of mulberry acreage so, too, is Japan confronted with the farm problem and cannot devote more arable ground to sericulture.

"These conditions give China here great opportunity. As silk manufacturers we are trying to show the Chinese this opportunity. We are not here for concessions of territory, neither is our mission altruistic. With the improvement of silk conditions in China our industry will prosper accordingly with the advancement of the people here.

"But do not overlook the fact that it is not the silk men alone who will profit by an increase of their export business. It is to the interest of the whole nation in that it will stablise the balance of trade. In order to buy from America the many things China wants to purchase there it is essential that she have a product which she can sell to America. Otherwise, the value of the dollar would be hopelessly against her. And the best thing she can sell to the United States is raw silk as the industry is particularly fitted to the Chinese disposition and nature.

GOVERNMENT MUST HELP

"This is why it is important that the government take a keen interest in assisting financially the movement of the International Commission for Sericultural education which has thus far been conducted largely by foreigners. The commission has but five seed stations at the present time with an output of 20,000 egg cards a year whereas as it will take 10,000,000 cards annually to supply the district adjacent to Shanghai alone if eggs free from disease are distributed.

"Under the plan of the Commission, which is being furthered by the American Mission, the silk growers will be encouraged not to overstock their plants and to produce healthy, hardy cocoons by simple scientific methods. Although it is taking time to spread the idea that will revolutionise a practice of many years the results, though restricted by lack of funds, have been highly satisfactory."

Statistics show the immediate need for an active movement in China's silk industry. Whereas 20 years ago the United States imported 50 percent of her supply from Japan, 25 percent from China and 25 percent from Europe, in 1913 the figures were: 65 percent from Japan, 15 percent from Europe and 51 percent from Europe, with 5 percent from scattering markets. And last year 90 percent came from Japan and 10 percent from China.

U.S. IS BIG CONSUMER

Five years before the United States consumed over 52 percent of the world's supply of raw silk, that is the exports from China and Japan and all the silk in Europe, data on the amount consumed locally in the Orient being unavailable.

Since the armistice was signed the United States has been consuming 35 percent of the raw silk.

Thus it is pointed out that the United States consumes more raw silk than all the rest of the world combined. This fact is used to point out the importance of reeling Chinese silk to meet the requirements of American manufacturers.

The members of the Mission were guests yesterday at the University Club luncheon of the Chinese Bankers Association and today will go to Hangchow to witness the weaving of brocade satins. Wednesday and Thursday will be spent here and on Friday they will leave for Soochow where they will spend the day. Friday night will be spent at Nanking from whence they will go to Peking for a three days visit.

Upon their departure from the capital the Americans will travel through Manchuria to see the handling of Tursah, the wild silk from worms which feed on oak leaves instead of on the mulberry as elsewhere. It is from this silk that pongee is made.

After the Manchuria trip the Mission will return to Japan and will sail from there for the United States in May 15.

In the party are: Charles Cheney, president, the Silk Association of America and Cheney Brothers, silk manufacturers; Emil J. Stehli, president, U. S. Conditioning and Testing Company and Stehli Silks Corporation, broad silk manufacturers; George A. Post, member executive committee, Silk Association of America, Post and Sheldon Corporation, silk manufacturers. Wilkes-Barre Silk Company; John D. Dunlop, Jno. Dunlop's Sons, brown silk manufacturers; William C. Cheney, director of Cheney Brothers and manager raw silk department; Ramsay Peugnet, secretary-treasurer, Silk Association of America and secretary-treasurer, U. S. Conditioning and Testing Company; Daniel E. Douty, general-manager, U. S. Conditioning and Testing Company.

WOULD LIQUIDATE INSOLVENT BANK

Foreign Bureau Suggests Readjustment Plan For Bank Of Territorial Development

Plans for the liquidation of the affairs of the Bank of Territorial Development, which went bankrupt several years ago have been formulated by the local Bureau of Foreign Affairs and forwarded to the Ministry of Finance. It is expected that the plans will be accepted by the Ministry and carried out shortly. They include the establishment of a bureau of liquidation in Shanghai and the issuance of government bonds for the redemption of the notes and the payment to creditors and depositors. The present plans are suggested by Mr. Barnes Moss, commercial adviser to the Bureau.

The Bureau of Foreign Affairs has been actively engaged in bringing the affairs of the bank to a head. Mr. J. C. Cho, commercial attache to the bureau, made several trips to Peking, consulting with the officials of the ministry and urging the liquidation of the bankrupt institution.

The proposals call for the presence of all claims within three months after the formation of the liquidation bureau, which will record each individual claim. After the amount of the claims is ascertained, the Government will be requested to issue a short term loan covering the total amount.

Proceeds of the sale of these bonds will be utilised for the redemption of the notes and the payment of deposits, which will be made by installments. Creditors who are foreign banks will receive these bonds for their claims.

Peking To Welcome American Bankers

Mr. Thomas Lamont leaves for Peking this morning. After a stay in the capital, he will proceed to Manchuria, Korea and Japan. Elaborate preparations are being made in Peking for the entertainment of the American financier. The President, Mr. Hsu Shih-chang, has appointed a special commission, headed by Mr. Yih King-fu, English secretary of the President's office, to welcome the American Banking Group.

JAPANESE ATTACK ON BOLSHEVISTS BRINGS PROTEST

Commissary At Vladivostok Say Clash Is Violation Of Agreement

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Vladivostok, April 3.—The Bolshevik Commissary for Foreign Affairs, Tchitcherin, has sent a note to Japan on the subject of the attacks by the Japanese on troops of the Red army at Nikolaievsk.

Tchitcherin considers this to be a violation of the agreement concluded between the Japanese and the commander of the Red army. He suggests that the best way to avoid such incidents is to open peace negotiations.

Vladivostok, April 3.—The Zemstvo War Council is establishing concentration camps for counter-revolutionaries.

Vladivostok, April 3.—At Blagobestchensk on March 31 a band of anarchists, mostly Chinese and Hungarians, made an attempt to free from prison their leader who was in jail on a charge of murder. After all-night fighting the Soviet soldiers compelled the anarchists to surrender.

London, March 31.—A Bolshevik report states that 10,000 prisoners and large quantities of stores were captured at Novorossisk and also 15,000 men who were retreating from the town.

London, March 31.—The Polish Legation announces that the Bolshevist offensive on the Southern front against the Poles has weakened. The Poles are now counterattacking, rendering Bolshevist concentrations impossible. The Bolshevist losses have been very heavy, those of the Poles slight. The Poles have captured many guns and prisoners and much war material.

SIXTH ITALIAN CONSOLIDATED 5% LOAN 1920

We are in receipt of cable advices from Rome to the effect that period of subscription to these Bonds has been extended one month, or until April 10th.

This will give an opportunity to those who have not yet invested in these Bonds to invest and to those who have invested to invest more.

The rate of exchange is very favorable at the present and the issue price of Lire 87.50 being still in effect these Bonds should offer a very attractive investment.

Bonds are in denominations of Lire 100 or multiples thereof and yield 5% interest on the par value which is 5.71% on the issue price.

Throng Out For Second Day Of Kiangwan Race Meeting

Sunshine And Real Spring Weather Are Factors In Enjoyment Of Excellent Program

The first real spring day of the year with a full measure of sunshine and scarcely a cloud in the sky brought out throngs of people yesterday to the Kiangwan track for the second day's races of the International Recreation Club's 22nd meeting. While the course was still soft from rains of last week, it was in far better shape than for the first day of the meeting. Saturday, and this improvement is reflected in some of the times recorded.

Good racing characterised every one of the eleven events on the card, and while a number of sharply contested struggles were witnessed in the stretch with exciting finishes there were no outstanding features. In the one steeplechase of the program, the fifth race, The Easter Handicap, Mr. H. G. Robinson's chestnut mare Peur ridden by S. B. M. Bremner was as easy victor, taking the lead before the race was a little more than half over and holding it to the finish. Mr. Hart's Ye Illusionist ridden by Mr. G. G. C. Harper, some lengths behind Sans Peur, also distanced the field in finishing in second place.

Only nine starters appeared for the main event of the day, the Easter Handicap, which was the ninth race. In the backstretch after the start the field divided itself first into two swift-moving groups and then into three, and when these swept into the finish it was the course the contest between Mr. Perchang's dun Co-operation, with Mr. W. G. Crokam riding, and Messrs. Zih Bros.' grey Wellington, ridden by Mr. H. W. Ip, brought all onlookers to tense attention. Co-operation finished a scant length in the lead with Wellington just a length ahead of Mr. Lansing's chestnut, Newcastle, which was ridden by Mr. Knoll.

None of the dividends paid in the course of the afternoon mounted to extraordinary height and in general winners received but moderate rewards.

Mr. Harry White's Victoria won the third race. The Red House Plate, and this, for win, paid Tls. 19.30, the biggest dividend of the day. Mr. Tucksong's Victory in the second race brought a dividend of Tls. 51.10 to holders of lucky tickets.

MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION
No. 2698.

NOTICE is hereby given that, in addition to the Resolutions to be brought forward as published in Notification No. 2693, the following will be proposed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers on April 7:—

Amendment to Resolution VIII.—To delete everything after the word "meeting" and substitute the following:

"Hereby instructs the Council to take such steps as are necessary to procure the alteration of the Land Regulations for the purpose of increasing the number of Councillors from 9 to 12 of which 3 shall be Chinese Ratepayers with the same qualifications as Foreign Councillors, and to be elected as may be subsequently determined."

Proposer: Edward S. Little.
Seconder: Edward I. Ezra.

Resolution XII.—That the Council be hereby authorised and directed to arrange for the re-assessment of the land comprised within the limits of the Settlement, during the current year, such re-assessment to come into force as from the first day of January 1921, and to engage such professional assistance for the performance of the work as may be found expedient.

Proposer: E. F. Mackay.
Seconder: P. A. Cox.

Resolution XIII.—That the Report of the Loan Redemption Committee published in the Municipal Gazette of March 16, 1918 be tabled for consideration at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers to be held in 1921.

Proposer: E. C. Pearce.
Seconder: A. Brooke Smith.

Resolution XIV.—That the Council be and it is hereby authorized to impose collect and recover in respect of any licence or permit to carry firearms, that may be issued under the provisions of Bye-law XXXVII a fee of Tls. 10 per quarter with effect from May 1, 1920, until the next Annual Meeting of Ratepayers, payable in advance.

Mr. Lamont's Mission

MR. Thomas W. Lamont, one of the principal partners of the famous banking house of Morgan & Co., of New York, who has been in Shanghai for a few days, en route to Peking, has been made the repository of a good deal of advice while here concerning the new financial Consortium in which he represents the American banking group, and to some extent the other groups. And as he is a man of wide experience and solid grasp of affairs we are sure that it will prove valuable to him when he comes to deal with the military clique which is in control of the Chinese Government and people. He has already shown what he can do by his success in Japan where he led the Japanese banking group into the light. His task in Peking will be more difficult. The Japanese saw their way to entering the new Consortium on even terms with France. Great Britain and America. Previously they had wished to exclude Mongolia and Manchuria from the scope of the Consortium

But what will the Peking Government consent to do? It will not, in our opinion consent to anything, unless international pressure is brought to bear. It must be made to submit to the necessary conditions. Our Peking correspondent puts the matter in this way:

"Behind all the immediate negotiations therefore is the underlying question of whether or not there has been a definite, tangible reformulation of the principles of foreign diplomacy in China. There is the question whether the great Powers have pledged themselves to the abandonment of their former attitude to China and the waiving of their former perquisites—concessions, spheres of influence, competition for exclusive rights, exploitation and the like. This can be summed up in a sentence, but it involves a diplomatic revolution. And by nothing short of such a revolution can anything constructive be accomplished—by Mr. Lamont or anybody else. This is to say that behind the Consortium bankers there must stand concrete, practical action and agreement in action by the governments concerned. Banking groups are not responsible to anybody but their directors. And directors change. Behind them must stand the formal guaranties of their governments as a check.

"Without such check it is unfair and useless to ask the Chinese—the patriotic, far sighted Chinese, that is, not the government—to yield as much as China must yield to make the Consortium a success. For a successful Consortium, as has been said again and again, involves a control of China's government for China's own salvation.

"And make no mistake about this: The Chinese, the most intelligent and modern Chinese, are highly suspicious of the Consortium or any other foreign interference. They have the past hundred years for justification. They must be given recognisable evidence that the suspicion is no longer justified. The second essential therefore is the public pronouncement on the part of the four governments of such a new policy."

The argument there presented is, we believe, incontrovertible. There is no foreigner of experience in the Far East and certainly no Chinese outside of the ruling governmental cabal who wishes to have the new Consortium advance money to Peking unless it has the known power behind it to back up and enforce the guaranties which it surely intends to exact.

The address made by Mr. Sung Han-chang, Manager of the Shanghai branch of the Bank of China, to Mr. Lamont, and which we publish in full elsewhere is full of good advice. The bankers and merchants of China will welcome the financial assistance of this new and powerful group, providing the money is to be used for the expansion and development of China's resources and industries. But—

"We hope, that the purpose and intention of the New Consortium in financing the needs of China are different from those of the Old Consortium. We as merchants do not favor the loans to be used for purposes other than that for the development of industries which will be beneficial to the Chinese public and not to the individual few.

"Loans for political purposes would only mean more internal strife, hence would be a hindrance rather than a help for the development of industries. Therefore, the most important point for the Consortium to bear in mind is to co-operate with the Chinese public, particularly the business class so that they may also contribute their share to help their own country. Their contributions may be small as compared with those of the members of our foreign friends, but the idea is not so much in the comparison as in showing the real spirit of co-operation and the sincerity of the Consortium to really help China.

"In inviting the business class to participate in making loans to China, you pave the way to successful working."

Mr. Sun Hung-I, Minister of the Interior under the Li Yuan-hung administration, who is one of the most radical and fiery enemies of the Peking Government, expresses himself as follows in a letter which we received yesterday:

The New Consortium was formed partly to prevent a certain country from so monopolising the loaning privileges as to secure and support her ambitious encroachments on China. Hence on account of its nature, we should, instead of opposing it, show our proper good will towards it. For, when an honest government representing the people's true will shall be established, there must be many developments which necessitate the preliminary help of the friendly countries and this help from different countries is much better than that from a single one. It will be less dangerous to China. I may even say it would most probably bring no danger to her.

But before the formation of such a government as represents the people's true will, any loan meant to help the Peking Government of militarists and officials must be opposed by our people without discriminating the New Consortium from the old one. Formerly the latter lent money to the late Yuan Shih-k'ai; consequently China fell into a great chaos. Afterwards, Japan singly did so to Tuan Chi-jui, with again the same inevitable result. The reason why we must oppose such loans is simply because the militarists and officials of China are in fact robbers and to give them money is the same as to give weapons to robbers.

The United States formerly took the side of righteousness and humanity but it would be surprising if it so should at this time not apply the same principles to China.

There are two erroneous points upon which the Europeans and Americans base their view of China; namely, the existing political feature and competition with Japan. They think too much of the influence of the militarists and officials and not enough of the people. They appear to think that the former will be able to control the people forever and that it is more advisable to give help to them than to the latter, so as to preserve the existing situation.

But Europe and America do not realise the fact that so long as the militarists and officials usurp the power, the unrest of China will not cease, and consequently, the foreign commerce will be affected to a great extent. The foreign editors in China have lately scrutinised this very minutely, and some articles of THE NORTH CHINA DAILY NEWS and THE CHINA PRESS show that their views are as clear as fire. But I should regret very much if the governing bodies of different countries remain ignorant of it.

They seem to think that the preferential position of Japan in China is entirely due to her having supplied loans to the Peking Government and therefore try to follow her example. But they ignore that the present relation between China and Japan is due to the fact that both governments are formed of militarists. If loans are the only means of securing a high voice in China, why was Japan permitted to monopolise such a voice as soon as the money lent to old Consortium was used up

For their own sake, the best course left to Europe and America is to aid the Chinese people to form a representative government. Then the Chinese people will naturally come in close touch with them and the relation of the Japanese militarists with China will be absolutely ended.

It is important to understand that we oppose Japan not only for her loans but because her loans are to our military masters.

Mr. Lamont has told us as much as he could be expected to tell of the purposes of the Consortium. He can't tell it all down here in advance of his conferences with the representatives of the government in Peking. In his speech at the Astor House banquet, after telling some of the wonderful things that America had accomplished in the short period of her existence, he said:

"And I recall to my American friends that it is our duty and it is the duty of the British and the French groups in the same way, to whom has been accorded perhaps this greater degree of material development than has yet come to China, even though you may have much greater natural resources than we have—it has become our duty to do what we can to bring to this people, for whom we have such friendship this same character of blessings, if I may call them that, that have been vouchsafed to us.

"And in closing let me once more . . . bespeak for the American group and the Consortium the heartiest possible co-operation in the plans that we hope to form for this work in China, if China so desires it, and the same sort of spirit of cordiality and of friendship which I know full well, as you do, if it is carried out in the coming years, will mean not only prosperity and contentment and happiness to this wonderful land of China, but it will mean the peace of the Far East—yes, the peace of the world."

The Consortium therefore in its general outline stands firstly for the development and prosperity of China. It wishes to help in the great work of putting China on her feet as a modern, going concern. And secondly it perceives in itself, considering the great powers which are represented in it, tremendous potentialities of peace, not only in the Far East, but in the world. With these principles no foreigner and no Chinese will disagree. The only stumbling block to its full success is the Peking Government, which has forfeited the confidence and trust of the country. We wish Mr. Lamont every success in his great undertaking.

A CHINESE YOUTH'S TRIBUTE TO HIS FATHER

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS.

My dear sir.—A splendid young Chinese friend requested that I write an obituary for his father who had recently died. Having asked him to give me the facts concerning his father's life, he sent me a memorandum of which the enclosed is substantially a copy. I copied it with a few verbal changes and slight alterations, and sent it to him in this form as being better than anything that I could write as coming from me. He now sends it back to me, and following my suggestion, wishes it published in THE CHINA PRESS. It was quite interesting to me as showing the initiative and energy of a Chinese young man. And I thought that you might feel that it would be interesting to your readers. Very sincerely,

Chas. W. Rankin.

A TRIBUTE TO KAO CHIU CHIEN BY HIS SON, C. Y. KAO

My father, named Kao Chiu-chien, was born September 20, 1868, in Wusih, Kiangsu Province, China. When he was only seven years of age his mother died and my father was brought up by my great grandmother and grandfather. At that time the family was very poor, and my father attended school only one year. At twelve years of age he entered business as a dealer in cotton and its products, in which he was engaged for a little over forty years, and until his death on March 23, 1920. By diligence he won the favor of his superiors who patronised and taught him as parents would. Realising his lack of education, he tried hard to make up the deficiency by reading and copying newspapers regularly. Gradually he acquired the ability to read and write until he could associate with learned men agreeably.

My father's rise in business was something exceptional. Winning the confidence of the owner of the shop and the favor of his superior, he was made the chief of the shop. Often in a day he had to attend to more than two hundred customers, because they trusted him so much that they would not do any business with the shop except through him. At about thirty years of age he was able to open a shop of his own.

In the meantime the number of his friends increased. Among these were Mr. Tso Sau-yin, Manager of the Soolung Cotton Mill, and Dr. Fee Chi-huai, Han Lin of the Ching Dynasty, both of Soochow, with whom my father became very intimate—Mr. Tso often consulting with my father as to matters concerning the management of the mill. And later when Mr. Tso met with misfortune, my father came to his rescue, using all means within his power for his assistance, even to the extent of sacrificing all that he had at that time. With the deliverance of Mr. Tso from his trouble, Dr. Fee was deeply impressed with my father's sacrificing spirit. Their friendship became closer, and finally Dr. Fee made my father the manager of the Soolung Cotton Mill. They co-operated and made the mill very prosperous until the death of Dr. Fee.

In 1909 my father became connected with the Dah Yu Oil Mill situated on Ichang Road, Shanghai. In 1913 he was the manager of two other oil mills in Shanghai, but soon he returned to the Dah Yu Mill. When he began to manage this mill in 1909 the plant was worth only one hundred thousand taels. After more than ten years of successful direction of its affairs, he had increased its value to five times this amount. Formerly the mill was only equipped for making oil from cotton and rape seed. At the time of his death oil was being pressed also from the soy bean and from peanuts. My father's aim was to keep and work as much raw material in China as he could.

Diligence with my father had become a habit. Oftentimes he stayed in the mill through the night until two o'clock in the morning, inspecting and trying to improve its work. He was kind to workmen. If any of them were hurt accidentally, they were sure to be comforted by his bestowment of money.

My father had three children—one of them being a daughter. My younger sister and I were born of his first wife. Our younger brother was born in 1909 of a later marriage. For the education of his children, my father was willing to sacrifice everything. One instance will be enough. He supported me all through my College work until I took my Master's degree at Cornell.

Early in his life my father desired to be the founder of a school or schools like Cornell, and he decided to devote all his property to this end after his death. In the Spring of 1919 when the alumni of the China National Institute endeavored to reopen their alma mater, he contributed $1,000.00. A few days before his death he directed me to contribute $30.00 annually to the Primary School opened by the S.U.Y.M.C.A., because he had been told that the work of the school was very efficient.

The sickness, splitting blood, from which my father died, was mostly due to overwork in the mill. Every workman prayed for his recovery, but to no avail. His death has been mourned by all his employes, and is a great loss to them, for it will be difficult to find another who will be so good a friend to them. He was an affectionate father, and was companion and friend to his children. His loss in the home is irreparable. He loved China and strove to develop her industries, and keep and work at home as much raw material as possible. I consider my father's death a loss to China.

'AN INTERESTING QUERY' ANSWERED

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS.

Sir.—Your issue of March 31 contains a letter over the signature P. F. Pomeroy asking your readers to give "the name of the President or Presiding Officer of the Young Men's Total Abstinence League who is also manager of a company who are sole agents of a certain well-known brand of Scotch Whisky."

The President, who is also the Presiding Officer, of the Men's Total Abstinence League, is the Rev. Dr. William H. Lacy, who is also manager of the Methodist Publishing House in China, with a record of more than thirty-two years as a missionary in China. It is not necessary to say that the company of which he is the manager are not agents for any brand of whisky, but I am authorised by Dr. Lacy to say that he is a good judge of the "Best Scotch Whisky" for it sent his grandfather to a drunkard's grave and made a total abstainer of himself and his father. His advice to P. F. Pomeroy as to any brand of whisky is, leave it alone. Yours,

VERITAS.

OPIUM SMUGGLING

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS.

Sir.—On my way back from Tsingtao a Chinese told me about the opium smuggling to China.

He said: "More than $30,000,000 worth of opium is still smuggled into China yearly. Since Japan took possession of Tsingtao, Tsingtao has been a center of opium smuggling. Having been approved by their government, the Japanese order a good deal of opium from India and Persia. They transport it first to Kobe and then to Tsingtao, which is a convenient place from which to ship it to the interior.

Besides Tsingtao, there are other ports for smuggling opium to China. See the amount of opium in each of the following ports:

Tsingtao has Indian opium about 500 chests a year.
Tsingtao has Persian opium about 400 chests a year.
Dairen has Persian opium about 600 chests a year.
Kwangchowwan has Indian opium about 300 chests a year.
Macao has Indian opium about 500 chests a year.

Shanghai, April 2, 1920.

The Chairman,
Shanghai Municipal Council,

Dear Sir.—With the view to advancing social welfare and public morality in the International Settlement, we, the Undersigned Organisations feel it is our duty to express our deep interest and hearty approval of the report and recommendations made by the Vice Commission of your Council concerning the matter of abolishing prostitution. The plan, we believe, is a wise and practicable one; and every intelligent citizen of the Settlement as well as those who have an interest in Shanghai will surely be glad to see that, within the period of five years, the city will eventually be cleared of this most vicious and inhuman trading.

We, therefore, sincerely hope that the measures be accordingly adopted; and we further wish to assure you and your colleagues that we are ready to render every assistance, within our ability, to ensure its success. We are, Sir,

Yours faithfully,

'IT'S A SAD STORY, MATES'

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS.

Sir.—In glancing through The Radiator, I came across the following, which perhaps Mr. Wyatt would like to send to the Benevolent Autocrat:

THE NIGHT BEFORE PAY-DAY

'Twas the night before pay-day
And all through my jeans
I hunted and hunted
For the price of some beans,
Not a quarter was stirring,
Not even a jit.
The coin was off duty,
Milled edges had quit.
Move forward, move forward,
O Time, in your flight,
And give me tomorrow
Just for tonight.

The jingle is by Charles Brooks.

Yours truly,

CHINESE AND PORTUGUESE MEMBERS IN THE MUNICIPAL COUNCIL

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS.

Sir: I venture to suggest to every Portuguese taxpayer who has a vote that he vote on the 7th instant in support of Mr. Little's resolution asking that the Council be increased from nine to twelve members, three of them to be Chinese with the same qualifications as foreign Councillors.

Using the expression of Mr. Little that one of the first principles of government proclaims that people of all sections and all walks of life shall have a voice in the management of Municipal affairs, I think it is time that at least one member of the Portuguese Community (the fourth largest) should also be elected to the Council.

The Portuguese although so numerous are not represented in the Council nor with one or two exceptions do they occupy any position of importance with the Municipal Council. Vacancies that occur in some of the Municipal Council departments which can be easily filled with Portuguese assistance appear to be systematically filled with persons of other nationality evidently by private arrangement without public advertisement of the open vacancy and without competitive examination.

The Chinese are more fortunate in this respect as they can count their members by the thousand whereas the Portuguese who are non est while their nationals without voice and without protest, continue to bear the taxation without representation. Enclosing my card, I am, Yours truly,

LUSITANO.

Beatrice Fairfax Makes A Plea For More Consideration On The Part Of Old-Fashioned Parents

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

An acknowledged authority on all matters pertaining to the problems of love and marriage

"Dear Miss Fairfax:

Permit me to introduce myself as a young man of nineteen. Very lonesome. A little bashful.

"What I have: A little money to spare for pleasure and some for the bank. Very old-fashioned parents. A home (four walls, ceiling, bed).

"What my heart desires and believes it is entitled to: A better home. Sensible parents. Good companions.

"What I believe is the best thing to do. First—to move away from home to better surroundings. Second—To join the K. of C. or some church organisation.

"What do you believe would be the best thing to do? To explain: Father and mother can easily afford to improve the home. I should be happy to contribute my share, but I find it useless to try to convince them. They hoard every penny they make and if they find that I go to the movies more than once a week, I am called a spendthrft. I cannot invite anyone to my home, as I only disgrace myself because of father's shameful views of the way things are run in this country. A.M.L."

I'm giving you this letter precisely as it came to me, because it typifies many letters which I receive. It expresses, in fact, one of the vital problems of today.

That problem is: How shall we find a happy mean between the longings of youth and the ideas of the older generation?

YOUTH MUST BE SERVED.

How are we going to reconcile youth with all its cravings for romance, its desires for pleasure, and its surging ambitions to the quiet sit-by-the-fire attitude of the older generation?

But even more important than this, since "YOUTH MUST BE SERVED"—How are we going to make the older generation keep itself open-minded and fairly and squarely in touch will today?

Of course this is an age of extravagance. But the extravagance isn't limited to America, as some parents who came from the old country 30 or 40 years ago persist in thinking. If they could go back to England or France or Italy or Russia or wherever they came from, they'd find that the old French proverb, "Other times, other customs" is true.

The whole world has changed its ways and its ideals. There's a little streamlet which gets its start trickling down the side of an ice-mountain. It is no very great affair. But when it reaches a fertile valley in the lower reaches of Switzerland. It becomes the mighty Rhone.

The stream of time is a swollen turbulent river now. It isn't where it started but where it has gone which counts.

For the older generation to try to impose on youth the customs and ideals it brought either from a foreign land or from some undeveloped part of our own land years ago, is impossible. Impossible. Why won't age recognise that? Back in my own youth in Indiana I can remember homes of wealth and culture with oilcloth on the floors and red tablecloths perpetually on the dining-room tables. But I'm not insisting that those are the requisites to the home-beautiful today.

The world insists on advancing, and we may as well reconcile ourselves to advancing with it. If we don't, we'll find ourselves, at first, just a little bit "different." Finally, we're likely to become peculiar to the point of being thought either crazy or stupid.

I know a sweet little Italian girl who is miserably unhappy because her people won't let her have friends or any of the innocent pleasures her fastidious nature craves. When I spoke of this to the old mother, from whom I buy my fruit, she was astonished at my lack of understanding. Said she, in English I could never reproduce in spelling:

"But Rosa will marry some day. We find her a good man with a nice business. In my country a girl sits at home with her family. She sews. She helps with the work. She learns to keep house. She takes care of her little brothers and sisters. No, no, a good girl like my Rosa must not go to movies!"

THE FUTURE OF ROSA

It took a long time to convince mother that in her day there were no movies. That Italy of 1920 and the Italy she remembers back in the '80s are different. That Rosa is living in a world where every one has a little pleasure, a little relaxation, a little change, and that if it is denied her she will come presently to think her parents are her enemies. If that happens, instead of differing with them about little social matters, about the way the home should be beautified, about having company, she is going to drift so far that they cannot guide her in the big questions of morals and decency and right and wrong—where youth needs age.

Why not compromise—Youth? Why not believe that age and experience and vanity count for something?

Why not remember—Age? Why not recall how youth longs for beauty and romance? Why not revision how youth denied true beauty turns to sordid substitues?

Our Concurrent Power

In his inaugural address Governor Edwards of New Jersey proposes to make the most of the concurrent power of enforcement conferred upon the states by the Eighteenth Amendment. The language used, he says, "is not the result of accident or idle thought, but rather is indicative of the intention on the part of the several states to require their concurrence, at least as to intrastate commerce, in any proposed Federal legislation concerning intoxicating beverages."

To give practical application to this theory the Governor urges a statutory interpretation of the amendment by the legislature pending the determination of the validity of the article and to guard against an attempt to enforce Federal legislation which may be contrary to the expressed desire of the people of New Jersey. If the state shall thus meet the issue of concurrent power it will present a question second only in importance to that raised by Rhode Island, which challenges the legality of the amendment in its entirety.

In no other part of the Constitution is such a thing as concurrent power mentioned. Certain powers are denied to the Nation and to the states, always without equivocation. The true authority of the Nation is never shared with the states, and the powers reserved to the states or the people are absolutely withheld from the Federal Government. Unless the amendment is to be pronounced invalid on the ground of indefiniteness, the concurrent power clause is as vital to the states as to Congress, and New Jersey properly takes the lead in testing the matter.—New York World.

For DELICIOUS MUFFINS Use

Libby's CREAM

1 egg
½ teaspoon salt
2 heaping teaspoons baking powder
1 cup Libby's Cream
1½ cups flour
1 tablespoon sugar

Beat egg with cream. Add salt, sugar, and flour and beat for five minutes. Quickly stir in baking powder until thoroughly mixed. Bake in muffin tins in a hot oven.

With your morning coffee, or for luncheon or afternoon tea with jam—you couldn't serve anything nicer than these quickly-made muffins!

And yet their light, delicate texture, the golden-brown crust your family praises, are secured without any butter! The secret lies in the richness of Libby's Cream.

Libby's Cream is pure, country milk, tested for butter-fat content, with more than half the moisture removed and nothing added. It is so rich that when you use it in your cooking you can economize on your butter-and-cream bills.

Order Libby's Cream from your grocer and try this recipe today.

Electric Cooking

THE IDEAL METHOD

The Electric Oven, being free from the fumes of combustion does not require to be ventilated, therefore food cooked in it retains its flavour, the natural gases from cooked meat are not carried away through flues but retained in the oven. A clear, uniform heat is maintained which has the effect of closing up the surface of meat or poultry, thus preventing loss by evaporation.

Electric cookers are hired out at Tls. 0.50 per month by the:—

PRINCE OF WALES REACHES PANAMA

(Reuter's Service)

Panama, March 31.—The Prince of Wales arrived here today, and was accorded a most hearty welcome.

Three American airplanes hovered overhead as the Renown and the Calcutta entered the Canal at dawn.

Salutes were fired from the guns on the ships which were drawn up and dressed with bunting.

The British Minister to Panama went on board the Renown at Colon, and the President of Panama and other distinguished personages met the Renown at the Gatun docks.

The Prince landed at Gatun Lake, where he inspected the American guard of honor and visited the wonderful automatic control house. After that, the warships cautiously crossed the Culebra Cut where the recent big landslide has just been cleared.

British Officer Cut From Navy List

(Reuter's Service)

London, March 3.—Lieut.-Col. L'Estrange Malone, R.A.F., M.P., has been removed from the Navy officers' list.

The Daily News attributes this action on the part of the Admiralty to Lieut.-Col Malone's unsanctioned visit to Russia. The officer's removal involves loss of substantial pension rights.

Vote Of Confidence Is Given To Nitti

(Reuter's Service)

Rome, March 29.—The Chamber of Deputies today passed a vote of confidence in Signor Nitti by 250 votes to 195.

LEGENDRE CRIPPLED

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, March 31.—Robert Legendre, the national pentathlon champion, has broken his leg and will be unable to complete in the forthcoming Olympic Games at Antwerp.

Arabs Capture And Quit Antioch

(Reuter's Service)

London, March 31.—The Cairo correspondent of the Times telegraphs: "It is reported that an Arab band captured Antioch after a sanguinary fight in which the French had 50 killed. The band subsequently quitted Antioch after having hoisted the Arab flag."

Foreign Paper May Save U.S. Editors

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, March 31.—The House of Representatives has unanimously passed a bill providing for the admission of newsprint paper, costing not more than eight cents a pound, into the United States tax free, in order to save hundreds of small newspapers from ruin.

British Navy Offers Officers Gratuities

(Reuter's Service)

London, April 1.—Owing to the considerable surplus of naval officers the Admiralty is offering special terms to officers who retire voluntarily during the next six months, including gratuities ranging from £2,500 for Lieutenant-Commanders under 36 years of age and £500 for Sub-Lieutenants, with additional allowances calculated on the basis of seniority.
